

State of

Connecticut

By Her Excellency M. Jodi Rell, Governor: an

Official Statement

*W*HEREAS, people of all ages in Connecticut and throughout the world have developed the illness of Electromagnetic Sensitivity (EMS) as a result of global electromagnetic pollution; and

*W*HEREAS, Electromagnetic Sensitivity (EMS) is a painful chronic illness of hypersensitive reactions to electromagnetic radiations for which there is no known cure; and

*W*HEREAS, the symptoms of EMS include dermal changes; acute numbness and tingling; dermatitis; flushing; headaches; arrhythmia; muscular weakness; tinnitus; malaise; gastric problems; nausea; visual disturbances; severe neurological, respiratory, and speech problems; and numerous other physiological symptoms; and

*W*HEREAS, Electromagnetic Sensitivity (EMS) is recognized by the Americans with Disabilities Act, the U.S. Access Board, and numerous commissions; and

*W*HEREAS, the health of the general population is at risk from electromagnetic exposures that can lead to this illness induced by electromagnetic radiations; and

*W*HEREAS, this illness may be preventable through the reduction or avoidance of electromagnetic radiations, in both indoor and outdoor environments and by conducting further scientific research; and

*W*HEREAS, people with EMS need the support of the medical establishment and understanding of family, friends, co-workers, and society as they struggle with their illness and have to adapt to new lifestyles; now

*T*HEREFORE, I, M. Jodi Rell, Governor of the State of Connecticut, do hereby proclaim the month of May 2010, as in the State of Connecticut.

ELECTROMAGNETIC SENSITIVITY (EMS) AWARENESS MONTH

M. Jodi Rell
