The Meridian

July Sundays (11:00 AM)

July 4 | Liberty's Razor: Simple Limits and Rational Rules

The right of conscience and the use of democratic process within our congregations and in society at large. What form of governance truly respects "the inherent worth and dignity of the individual?" How can we balance "the individual right of conscience" with "the democratic process?" Explore the Unified Field Theory of Politics in a radical and provocative look at the liberating aspects of liberty. Is there One Rule that will make us free? Is that what we really want?

Speaker: Allen Turnage; Lay Leader: Eric Draper

July 11 | Keeping Focused in the Midst of Diversity

Acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations. If you find the diversity of views and philosophies at UUCT a bit distracting, welcome to the party. Constantine was on to something when he enforced a narrow theology at the Council of Nicea in 325 CE. You can't herd cats, much less reunify an empire, when every individual espouses a separate cause. So how do Unitarian Universalists get anything done? Reviewing why we're here, where we wish to go, and ways of keeping focused on the journey. (Also installation of new UUCT officers.)

Speaker: Richard Dempsey; Lay Leader: Ellen Dempsey

July 18 | Looking for the Stone

Acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations. What place does gospel music have in our lives? Even people who don't buy the fundy-Christian message underlying the traditional canon can't help feeling drawn into the music. One of my best childhood memories is of our white-bread Presbyterian church combining services with a black Baptist church down the street and of our choirs singing together. Spiritual music surrounds births, deaths, marriages, partings, power struggles, and other times when we need to invoke a higher power. I want to share some of these songs that mark our transformations as individuals, families, and communities.

Guest Musician: Carrie Hamby; Lay Leader: Howard Pardue

July 25 | Exploring UU Historical Fallacies

A free and responsible search for truth and meaning. Unitarian Universalism labors under the weight of a number of historical inaccuracies. We are accustomed to being misunderstood by the general public, but in many instances these inaccuracies are accepted by the scholarly community and by our own membership as well. Why is this? We'll explore several common ideas about UU history that are in discrepancy with the historical record, then pose some possible explanations as to why we perpetuate these fallacies. Speaker: Van Fox; Lay Leader: Chelsea Fox

Minister's Message

By Rev. Amy McKenzie

Sabbatical Snippet

Freedom is not an ideal, it is not even a protection, if it means nothing more than freedom to stagnate, to live without dreams, to have no greater aim than a second car and another television set. [Kennedy-appointed U.S. Ambassador to the U.N.' Adlai Stevenson II, "Putting First Things First," 1960. Stevenson was a member of the Bloomington, IL, Unitarian Church in 1952, <http://www.uua.org/uuhs/duub/articles/adlaistevenson.html>]

Katharine Lee Bates penned the words to one of our patriotic hymns: "America the Beautiful."

[http://womenshistory.about.com/librari/bio/blbio_bates_katharine_lee.htm and

<http://www.wellesley.edu/Anniversary/bates.html>] It should be noted that the laws of our country did not give her the right to vote in elections (until she was 61) or marry her "romantic friend" of 25 years, economist and professor Katharine Coman. However, Bates made her livelihood as a college English teacher, and she made her mark with her poems. In particular, the 1893 tribute "America the Beautiful."

America! America!

God mend thine every flaw

Confirm thy soul in self-control

Thy liberty in law!

What she wanted for our country, I want for our country. In my travels, I have seen so much beauty-- a diverse landscape, variety in vegetation, rich soil of red, brown, black. But also broken down buildings, lives bent from unfair policies, land stripped for unreasonable monetary gain. That's just in the U.S.; what of our attempts to export democracy? How is that going?

The gap between the aimed-for and the actual was not lost on Ray Charles*, who recorded "America the Beautiful" in 1972. His gospel/blues interpretation was not ironic. On singing about harmony and ideals during oppression and injustice, Charles stated, "I'm the first to say this country is racist to the bone, but that doesn't mean I can't be patriotic. For all the b---s--- about America, I still work and live here in comfort."

We live in a beautiful land. An imperfect country. A nation that acts impetuously at times. A place that wants to be known for freedom. Whose laws are sometimes unjust in practice if not in writing. Yet, this land of liberty is a grand experiment. For all its flaws, it still seems possible to bring forth a free land from the seeds that have been planted.

Keep the ideal before us. Admit the flaws. Praise the beauty. Sing the truth!

Celebrate Freedom,

(Rev.) Amy

*Ray Charles Robinson was born in Albany, GA in 1930, the year after Katharine Lee Bates died, and he grew up in North Florida. He died on June 10. Here's Ray Charles singing "America the Beautiful" (words by Katharine Lee Bates and music by Samuel Augustus Ward, adapted): <http://www.brownielocks.com/americanthebeautifulWAVE.html>.

President's Message

By Richard Dempsey

Paradigms For Everything Under the Sun

Everything we think and do is governed by some paradigm, big or little, authorizing, justifying, explaining. Everything we think and do. There is never a vacuum. When Socrates advised, "Know thyself," he said perhaps more than he knew. Our lives are ordered by the way we see the world: e.g., our attitudes toward women, toward men, gays and lesbians, marriage, war, the gods, teenagers, SUVs, etc.

This is why it's important to peek around the edges of the ruling paradigms and see what else is there. What a surprise to learn that other ways of seeing the world actually exist and often appear no worse, or possibly better, than the ones we normally use. Which, to get closer to my point, is why Religious Education is so important. Children need to be taught early in life (and adults need to be reminded) that the single viewpoint, or religion, or pathway is never the only possibility and is more likely a preference acquired through familiarity or practice.

Our aim is not to paralyze the mind nor to suspend ourselves, feet off the ground, between choices of action. Preference is okay, quite often. It's just important to know that it IS a preference and not God's dictate. Personally, when people talk about God's will, I start looking for a bunker. Moral: Call Maggie Geraci and volunteer for the RE program at UUCT. Or enroll your child for the fall session.

In community,

Richard

Announcements

Fun for ALL: Playground Prep Days!

In preparation for Harmony Camp (August 2 - 6) and the Fall start of the Religious Education program, all are invited to help prepare the playground on Saturday, July 17 and Saturday, July 31, 8:00 AM to 12:00 PM. Weed pulling and mulch moving are the desired objectives...so bring your gardening gloves, shovels and wheelbarrows for a day of church community. All hands needed for this task, so that our Harmony Camp participants can have a safe place to play! Lunch and childcare will be provided. Please contact DRE Maggie Geraci if you have any questions or if you need childcare.

Complete Your Pledges, Start the New Year

Our fiscal year July 03 - June 04 has ended. Statements were mailed in mid-June to all who had not completed their pledges. Sunday, June 27 was the last collection, when 89 of 153 pledges were completed. The remaining 64 pledges had a $17,956 balance. Please complete your pledge if you are able, marking "03/04" in the memo line. We accept these contributions any time.

Please mark "04/05" on pledges for this July 04 - June 05 fiscal year. 31 of the 64 pledgers above had asked only for a statement in June. 46 have chosen this option in this new year. This option is intended for one-time contributors or those who can commit to a contribution schedule. If you have chosen this option and are unsure of your schedule, please consider quarterly statements. This is more work for me, but should assure more on-time completions in this new year. Contact: Thomas Chase, collecting treasurer (422-1985, twchase38@earthlink.net)

Update: Sunday Hospitality Network

Margaret Mooney has volunteered to be the new coordinator overseeing UUCT's Sunday hospitality network for the coming church year (July 2004 - June 2005). The purpose of this network is to provide everyone, church members, friends, and visitors alike, with a warm, friendly atmosphere and delicious sweets, hot coffee, cold drinks, etc., in the social time following each Sunday service (including the monthly potluck Sundays). Margaret will oversee the 12 volunteers who each are in charge of recruiting and setting up for one month of the year. For many of us, this is a highlight of each Sunday. Thanks to everyone for creating this special time of fellowship.

Late-Breaking News on Piano Purchase

As this Meridian goes to print, our music director, Helen Falb, has been busily hunting a piano for our sanctuary, and it looks like we've found a winner! It's a 7-foot Baldwin, 2002 model, that has never been sold. The price will be negotiated, but will be in the $26,000 range in addition to the trade-in value of our current piano. (An '04 model retails at $53,000, so it appears to be a very reasonable price.)

The piano sat in Jim's Piano Store in Albany, Georgia, where Helen played it June 21. It was moved to the UUCT sanctuary at the end of June, where it will be carefully inspected by an independent piano technician, Bruce Hargabus, before we agree to buy it, pending board approval July 8.

The existing piano fund contains $20,463.40, so we're short about $5,000. The Finance Committee has recommended to the board borrowing against the reserve fund for that amount; we'd repay it by continued fund-raising. In addition, we need to Save The Date!

This is an exciting time in the life of our congregation! We hope you will join us on Saturday, September 25, 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM to discuss the future of religious education here at UUCT. Laurel Amabile, RE Consultant for the Florida District UUA, will lead us in a workshop designed to crystallize our vision of what we teach and learn in our faith community.

The workshop will involve our professional staff and lay leaders and is open to Board members, teachers, parents, youth, and all interested members of the church. Lunch and childcare will be provided.

Together we will work to clarify the respective roles, responsibilities, and relationships among our minister, our director of religious education, families and congregational members. We will craft covenants to reflect these understandings and commitments and present the covenants to the entire congregation at a celebratory service on Sunday, September 26.

The Covenanting for Excellence in Religious Education promises to be an important part of our congregation's growth and maturation as we shape our religious education program and vision for the future.

Please call Kelley Turnage, Youth RE Chair, 553-9416, for more information about the covenanting, to tell us you can come, or to volunteer to help prepare for the workshop. We hope to see a great turnout for this important milestone in our church's growth!

purchase a good cover to protect the instrument (about $300). Be on the look-out for a beautiful new instrument which promises to enrich our Sunday mornings for many years to come!

Announcements (Continued)

Chair Stacking

Please help protect our new chairs by stacking them carefully, that is:

1. Stack no more than five chairs high.
2. Put chairs with arms and chairs without arms in different stacks.
3. When you place a chair on top of another, make sure it "nests" properly on top of the other.

Batter, Batter, Swing!

We are organizing a recreational, co-ed church softball team for a fall city league. Come join the fun. No real experience needed, enthusiasm welcomed. We'll play one night per week, 10 games total. For more information, please contact Georgia Ackerman (984-0182, Georgiaackerman@earthlink.net).

Gather Water

Whether you travel far or only close by this summer, take along a little container and gather water for our intergenerational ingathering and water ceremony in September. See p. 3 of June Meridian for details.

Donations of Stock

If you wish to give a donation to UUCT in the form of stocks, bonds or mutual funds, please contact Joan Patterson (309-1248 or jpatters@mailier.fsu.edu) or Del DeTar (878-7895 or ddetar@infi.net). Donations of stock may be made to fulfill your annual pledge, your pledge for the Capital Campaign, or for any special fund of the church. Gifts of equities or bonds are particularly appropriate if you wish to take advantage of tax-related deductions.

Mark Your Checks

- Note the purpose of every check in the memo line (pledge, UUSC...)
- At this time of year, please indicate whether annual pledge checks are for FY03-04 or FY04-05.
- Write separate checks for the Operating Budget (payable to UUCT) and Capital Campaign (payable to UUCT Building Fund).
- And a reminder that the three-year Capital Campaign pledge period ended 6/30/04.

Youth RE Committee Meeting, Sunday, August 1, 9:30 AM

YOUTH RE CONTACTS:

- Kelley Turnage, Youth RE Committee Chair (553-9416; kelleyturnage@hotmail.com)
- Scott Geraci, Nursery Sub-Committee Chair (877-6301, sgeraci10@direcway.com)

Summer Volunteers Needed for Green RE Program

For this summer's Green RE Program our creative youth will transform everyday household items (and/or trash) into marketable treasures for the UUCT yard sale this fall, as a Youth RE fundraiser.

Please look over the list below, bring items you may have to church any Sunday, and leave your contribution under the RE table or in Room 5. If you have any questions, ideas, or desire to help some Sunday, contact DRE Maggie Geraci or Debbie Wolfe (lobitaroja@comcast.net).

Reusable Items List:

Used/old items such as greeting cards, spray paint, empty metal paint cans, buttons, pillows (small), etc. In addition, foreign coins, shells, and whatever else might be of use.

What Does It Take?

Have you ever thought about volunteering as teacher in the Youth RE Program, but hesitated because you thought it would be too time-consuming? Do you love kids, but are afraid that you wouldn't make an effective teacher? Have you been a member or friend for at least six months? How much time does it really take to teach RE? What about curricula? What experience is necessary?

Teaching RE isn't just for parents with children in the program. We need help from all members and friends of UUCT. See what it really takes to make a difference in a child's life! For more information, please contact DRE Maggie Geraci.

Registration for 2004-2005

Registration for the upcoming year in Youth RE will be held Sundays, August 1 - September 5. New registrants should stop by the RE table during those dates to fill out a registration form. Parents of currently registered children will receive a printout of the information on file to update during the month of July. Please return the forms and any corrections to DRE Maggie Geraci on or before September 5.

Many of the expenses of the RE program are met through pledges to the church budget. A yearly fee covers additional costs. Family fees will be $30 for one child, $40 for two, and $45 for three or more. Scholarships are available. Please contact DRE Maggie Geraci for more information.

YRUU (Youth Group for Ages 12 - 20)

No meetings for the summer; possible special events will be announced.

For more information, call YRUU Advisor Howard Pardue (386-1494) or DRE Maggie Geraci.

Adult Enrichment

ADULT ENRICHMENT CONTACTS:

- Bruce Brandt, Adult Enrichment Coordinator (blbrandt@earthlink.net; 893-5511)
- Maggie Geraci, Director of Religious Education (DREMaggie@direcway.com; 877-6301).

The Adult Enrichment classes are described below. Please contact the person listed if you are interested in an upcoming or open attendance class.

CLASSES: ONGOING & OPEN

UUCT Book Club: Meets the 2nd Tuesday of every month in UUCT room C (new building, corner room). Newcomers are welcome. Contact Elizabeth Vigil at 656-9921 with questions. Our next meeting is Tuesday, July 13. We'll discuss The Red Tent by Anita Diamant. The red tent is the place where women gathered during their cycles of birthing, menses, and even illness. Like the conversations and mysteries held within this feminine tent, this sweeping piece of fiction offers an insider's look at the daily life of a biblical sorority of mothers and wives and their one and only daughter, Dinah.

Books to be discussed in the future are The Time Traveler's Wife by Audrey Niffenegger in August and Wicked: The Life and Times of the Wicked Witch of the West by Gregory Maguire in September.

The Artist's Way Creativity

Workshop I & II: These wonderful seven-week classes are once again open to new participants. The creativity workshops will resume July 10 after a break. There is a nominal charge of $5 to cover class materials, and you need to have a copy of The Artist's Way: A Spiritual Path to Higher Creativity, by Julia Cameron.

Each week we cover a different chapter and work on exercises (either from the book or gathered from other sources). Exercises include writing, drawing, dance, meditation, drumming, etc. Outside of class, you are encouraged to work in your preferred medium as well as those you may not have tried.

The class meets Saturdays, 1:00 PM to 2:30 PM (for Chp. 1-6) and Saturdays, 3:00 - 4:30 (for Chp. 7-12), Room K. Contact Amy Mann (222-1420 or amann@infionline.net).

FUTURE CLASSES

New UU sessions are offered on a regular basis for those new to Unitarian Universalism and UUs new to UUCT. The next sessions will be held on Mondays, July 12 and 19, 7-9 PM, taught by Annette Pearce and Rod Oldenburg. A sign-up sheet is on the back counter of the sanctuary, or contact the church office (385-5115, uuct@nettally.com) or Membership Chair Trudy Deyle (422-1057, gdeyle@juno.com).

Choices for Sustainable Living will be a nine-session course next fall exploring the meaning of sustainable living and the ties between lifestyle choices and their impact on the earth. Contact Kathie Mackie (385-5115, uuct@nettally.com) for more information.

OPEN PARTICIPATION

Adult Forum. Sun., 9:45 -10:45 AM, Room L. Open to everyone. See front page of this Meridian for the month's topics. Contact Norene Chase (422-1985).

UU Buddhist Fellowship. The UUBF usually meets every first and third Mondays of the month at 7:00 PM in Rooms 3 & 6. However, in July, we will only meet the third Monday. We discuss books and tapes on Buddhist philosophy and practices. We are currently studying When Things Fall Apart by Pema Chödrön.

Contact: Anne Rudloe (984-5204) or William Riedell (562-0739, wmpat88@att.net).

Women's Spirituality Group. Meets on Mondays at 7:00 PM offsite. Contact Bonnie Foster (539-5563, dbfoster@yahoo.com).

Campus Ministry Corner

By Chelsea Fox, Campus Ministry Coordinator

This summer the goal of the University UUs is to spread the word of our existence more effectively. Our most difficult task, it seems, is the information table we set up at FSU every Wednesday 10 AM - 2PM. We have three dedicated individuals who strive to make it out every week, Ansel Bailey-Mershon, Van Fox, and myself.

But this effort is much more effectively accomplished when a variety of people participate.

If you've been thinking about helping us, but you never quite manage to get around to it, here's another nudge. We can use even an hour of your time; anything is appreciated.

As a reminder, we meet once a week in the summer, Fridays at 6:30 PM at Black Dog Café.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions, comments, or willingness to help: chelsuu@yahoo.com ~ 222-3931

Canvass 2004-2005 Report

By Isabel Sheridan, Canvass Chair

Thank you for making the 2004 - 2005 Canvass such a success! You pledged $177,400. That is $14,490 over last year's pledging and an 8.9% increase. Your generosity allowed us to fully fund most of the line items from the Asking Budget. The August Meridian will provide a more detailed picture of pledging.

Now I want to thank specifically those who served on Canvass committees.

First of all, thank you to Margaret Mooney, immediate past canvass chair (three-year veteran in canvass leadership), and Annette Pearce, potluck coordinator (three-year veteran in this role). Thank you for your hours and hours of time, your endless energy, and your creative solutions.

Thanks to Del DeTar and the Finance Committee, especially collecting treasurer, Tom Chase. Year after year the committee spends many hours developing the Asking Budget and the Final Budget. And throughout every year Tom tracks the pledges as they come in.

Thanks to the following volunteers; we couldn't have done it without you. If I have forgotten anyone, I apologize. Let me know, and I will correct the record.

Phone Calls: Sally Andersen, Bruce Brandt, Pam Crosby, Kelley Turnage

NOTE: And a huge thank you to Isabel Sheridan for chairing this very successful canvass!

Green Corner

By Steve Urse, Green Sanctuary Committee Chair

This Green Corner is somewhat nostalgic for me because it will be my last as editor and chair of the committee. What a great, enthusiastic group of people to work with! Seeking the Seventh Principle Project (7PP) accreditation has been a journey more than a goal. The committee and the church have engaged in many green ventures these past few years.

The last week in June the committee set a goal to assess all accomplishments and compare them to required goals. Two necessary ones are "becoming involved in an ongoing environmental justice project with other organizations" and assessing the operations of the church to determine if they are as green as possible. January 2005 is a reasonable date to become an official 7PP Church because of some of the things mentioned in the next few paragraphs. Other good news is that a new crop of volunteers have offered green sanctuary gifts of self.

UUCT has paid dues to join the UUA's 7PP and our region's Big Bend Environmental Forum, an alliance of local environmental organizations.

Locally this means that as part of the BBEF alliance, UUCT's GS Committee will be co-sponsoring three upcoming Forums. They are: Monday, July 18, "County Greenways;" Monday, August 23, "Environmental Candidates Forum" (local commissioners); and Thursday, October 7, "Secrets of Wakulla Springs". The first two are in City Hall in the Commissioners' Chambers. There will be an opportunity to set up a table showcasing our endeavors.

You are encouraged to support the TAPP (Think About Personal Pollution) Campaign. That project has the goal to make our lakes, springs and aquifer cleaner. This is another program about taking personal responsibility. Visit www.tappwater.org. The Building and Grounds Committee will be asked to adopt the principles in TAPP's Guide to Water-Friendly Landscapes. That also meets a 7PP requirement.

Bruce Brandt has encouraged for adult religious education to "Let 1,000 Flowers Bloom". One of the blooms this Spring was a Voluntary Simplicity workshop, coordinated by Kathie Mackie and Maggie Geraci using NW Earth Institute materials. Their lessons learned are shared in the following article.

How will you become more environmentally friendly this year?

Lessons Learned from Voluntary Simplicity

Gwendolyn Waldorf: I am consolidating errand days and grocery days instead of having multiple trips spread all over the week; taking more time with my family instead of trying to do as much as possible; doing one thing at a time; appreciating delays - waiting for the computer, traffic lights, etc. - as natural breaks in my day; planning my life instead of my time.

Linda McConnell: My personal experience with this group was excellent. I enjoyed the materials, the companionship, and hearing from such diverse perspectives. I realized that I was not the only "mom" who boycotted offensive toys/products/fads aimed at children. I enjoyed the thoughtful and provocative insights concerning making choices. How I choose to spend my money does make a difference, and the choice I make with my money does reinforce my beliefs and lifestyle. I have begun to carefully research the appliances and products I intend to purchase (and have purchased) with zeal.

Chelsea Fox: The results of my involvement in the Voluntary Simplicity course might not be noticeable to most. It's not really something you can observe, but more of an enhanced mindset. I take my goal of living a simpler life and apply it to everything I do, all day, every day. Now I have a clearer sense of what simple living actually is, and every time I have a choice in what I do or how I do something, I can call upon that knowledge and act accordingly.

Beryl Cassidy: Besides getting to know some great people and hearing from different age groups, I learned that it is time to "pare down" all the "stuff" I have accumulated over the years. I have been giving things away to people who can use them, taking things to Goodwill, and even donated some crystal to the UUCT auction this year. (Note from one of Beryl's daughters: GO MOM!).

Kathie Mackie: I enjoyed this group so much. Everyone reinforced my living simpler views. I have been working the most on "precycling." A quote from our VS workbook gave this definition: "Reducing garbage by preventing it in the first place rather than to deal with it once it is here." I have been buying as much as I can in bulk, making just about all of our evening meals and everything else I can think of from scratch, thus eliminating almost all prepackaged foods from our kitchen. Making compost out of produce scraps and coffee grounds has also benefited my precycling efforts and our garden.

All felt the workshop and materials were beneficial and encourage others to study using the NE Earth Institute format. We will be offering their course Choices for Sustainability in the fall. Look for the sign-up sheet.

Membership Committee Message

By Trudy Deyle, Membership Committee Chairperson

Articulating Our UU Faith

How do you usually describe and explain your UU faith: in terms of what it is, or what it is not? In words for today's world, or in out-dated Judeo-Christian terminology? With too much brevity, or in too much detail for the listener to grasp? Seriously, or jokingly? I've got to admit it's a challenge! But does it matter for our listeners, for our fellow UUs and for ourselves how we describe our faith? You bet it does!

Give some thought to whether or not you are talking about UUism in as straightforward and positive a way as possible. Perhaps, it's time to re-evaluate ways you have become accustomed to talking about your faith - re-evaluating them in terms of the effect it has on yourself and others, including your fellow UUs. For instance, in the "Articulating Your UU Faith" adult enrichment class last winter, one participant said that to avoid potential conflict, he often referred to UUism jokingly when talking with others, especially non-UUs. He realized this was really putting down his faith in his own eyes and the eyes of others. After taking the class, this same person gave a very sincere and affirmative canvass testimonial at a Sunday service.

Another UUCT member has been used to referring to UUism jokingly around fundamentalist Christian relatives, as a necessary and understandable co-existence tool and tension diffuser. But when this same method of articulating UU faith was used in a public, non-church setting around a fellow UU, the other member found it deeply offensive.

So spend a little time thinking about how you refer to and describe Unitarian Universalism and how you might want to improve on it. The five session "Articulating Your UU Faith" class will be offered again next fall or winter. You might consider taking it. Those who took it last winter had a wide range of years as UUs, and all felt that the class definitely helped them out in their articulating!

Harmony Camp News

Thanks to Isabel Sheridan for chairing a very productive planning meeting on June 13 during the potluck. The notes covering Camp Director Kate Taluga's May 22 in-service training were disseminated along with a survey of attitudes toward working with others, so that we as camp staff can identify how each of us thinks of other people. Our goal is for all of our staff to create a culture where children are respected and involved as resource people, as compared to a culture where children are viewed as objects or as recipients of what is "good" for them. We want our children to have the opportunity to participate in decision-making which will nurture their self-esteem and productivity.

Everyone received a list of email addresses and phone numbers for all staff, so we can easily communicate with each other as we plan and as Kate coordinates our planning through phone and email conversations. Kate created a tentative schedule for the week of camp that was discussed at the meeting in June. Suggestions for changes and questions were passed on to Kate after the meeting. She has responded to those comments and will talk with each of us individually to iron out the details.

Isabel created a lesson plan form for those who would like to utilize it in planning their instruction during the camp. Kate plans to contact each of us individually to discuss our part in Harmony Camp. She wants us to have all our ideas in place when we come to the very important training on Saturday July 24 from 9 AM until 1 PM.

August 2 will be here before we know it! We're all excited about the week that will be! Our next Harmony Camp Committee meeting will be during potluck on July 11.

TEAM Chooses a New Direct Action Issue for 2004-05

Unitarian Universalist Church of Tallahassee (UUCT) remains active in TEAM, helping to choose a new issue to tackle this coming year. Sunday, June 5, 2004, UUCT members and friends voted their choice of issues via paper ballot. With 46 ballots submitted, the results are shown in the opposite column.

These votes together with one-to-one conversations between members helped a group of seven UUCT members and friends cast their votes (2 for jobs, 2 for healthcare, and 2 for public transportation) at TEAM's annual assembly held June 14 at Temple Israel. Faith Presbyterian's large contingent voted as a united block of 46 votes and threw the vote for public transportation. Although TEAM will continue it's work on affordable housing, health and teen issues, we will also begin work on public transportation.

Monday, June 28, TEAM held its annual research training at Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church. For all of those who are aching for an inspiring joining of forces with people of diverse faiths for the sake of positive social action, we urge you to keep an eye out for future TEAM events like this. You will be amazed at how much can be done for the common good when folks put aside their differences and channel their energy towards issues of mutual concern. For more information, please contact Joanne Taylor (893-9024) or Leslie Wurster (421-8129).

UUA Trustee Tidbits

By Joan Lund, FL District Trustee

I hope you are enjoying the summer and your congregations continue to be active and welcoming to all who join you for Sunday services. Welcoming visitors takes intentionality and practice. Even though you have greeters at the doors, a welcoming table for visitors, nametags, packets to be given or mailed to people and lots of activities for adults and children, sometimes visitors say that no one talked to them when they came.

Remember every member of your church was at one time a first-time visitor and all of us get only one chance at making a first impression. Each one of us can be prepared to say "Hi I am---, I don't think I've had the pleasure of meeting you; were you able to sign our guest book?"

Visitors can be encouraged to talk about themselves and their journey to the church. It is important that guests be asked to visit at least three times, and that they are introduced by you to at least one other member. I suggest if the minister, president, or lay service leader is close at hand, you could make an introduction to her/him.

Another valuable process for assessing your church's welcoming profile is conducting guest interviews. Interviewing visitors can provide some of the best information you can receive about how your congregation and its members are viewed, how your facilities make an impression on the newcomer, and how well your congregational systems for welcoming newcomers actually work. It would be beneficial to have a team of members from your congregation to do visitor interviews, dividing up the responsibility for the total number of interviews to be done.

Someone on the team should compile the responses to the questions you've chosen and summarize them to share with the team and the membership committee. These interviews should provide a good general profile about the impressions you are making on your visitors and your strengths, problems, and limitations as a congregation. From all of this you will be able to make recommendations to the congregation regarding your ability to welcome newcomers.

Much more information about making certain "no visitor is left un-welcomed or untended" plus an example of an interview form can be found at www.uua.org, under "Uncommon Denomination." I can be reached at jlund@uua.org or 813-931-9727. Stay in touch and contact me with questions and/or concerns regarding our work as Unitarian Universalists.
